The best ambition,
in my opinion, is to have something in your life that you love doing so much that it brings you joy in itself.

I have learnt by trial and error, mostly by making mistakes, with some occasional happy accidents that I have used to propel me forwards.

TAKEAWAYS

- Practise, trial and error, and the value of learning from mistakes are the most important aspects when improving your skills.
- Focus on the process rather than perfection.
- Decisions made during the painting process, such as lighting, composition, and engaging with subjects, greatly influence the outcome.

EXERCISE

Ask a friend or family member if they would be willing to 'sit' for you. Book in a day and a time and commit to it. Starting is the hardest part.
